

THIS AIN'T dickies arena MY FIRST RODEO hosts tcu night

Above: Rodeo Frog. Waving the iconic purple flag, SuperFrog stands in the center of Dickies Arena to kick off TCU night at the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo. The Cheerleaders and Showgirls performed routines to open up the evening rodeo events.
Photo by Garrett Cook

Right: Purple. During the opening of the rodeo, cowgirls display their purple while carrying the procession of six flags, for the six countries who had control over the land of Texas. This special night showcased the Horned Frogs and gave students and faculty a half-price discount for rodeo tickets.
Photo by Garrett Cook

Above: Lookin' Presidential. Putting up the iconic Horned Frog hand gesture, TCU's incoming President, Daniel Pullin, saddles up during the opening procession of the FWSSR. Pullin was previously the dean of the Neeley School of Business before being named the new TCU President in December 2022.
Photo by Garrett Cook

Left: Hope & Rope. After chasing a calf around the arena, this youngster ropes a baby cow during the calf scramble. This event allows kids to win scholarships if they are able to catch a calf and bring it to the center of the riding arena.
Photo by Garrett Cook

1990

John Roach was elected as the chairman of the board, and the 50,000th graduate received their TCU degree. Additionally, international study opportunities were strengthened for faculty and students.

Photo courtesy of TCU Archives

